At an elevation of 29,028 feet above sea level, Mount Everest is the world's tallest mountain. It is relatively young having been formed only 60 million years ago, and it is still growing a few millimeters every year. It is in the mountain range called the Himalayas. The summit ridge of Mount Everest separates Nepal and Tibet. Each place has a special name for this giant mountain. The Nepalese name is Sagarmatha which means "goddess of the sky". The Tibetan name is Chomolungma which means "Mother goddess of the universe". In English, Mount Everest is named after Sir George Everest the first person to record height and location of the mountain. A climb to the summit was attempted by George Mallory in 1922, who famously gave his reason for wanting to climb Everest as "because it's there". He attempted to reach the summit again in the company of Andrew Irvine in 1924, but on this trip both climbers disappeared. The first successful ascent (and decent) was accomplished by Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay in 1953.

Between 1921 and 2007 over 2000 people have climbed Mount Everest, some more than once. Since the first ascent in 1953, more than 600 climbers have reached the summit. However, over 200 climbers have died in attempting to climb it, most commonly from avalanches, but also from falls in crevasses, cold, or high-altitude sicknesses.

Complete the following statements by selecting the most appropriate options :

- (a) Mount Everest changes annually by _____.
(i) getting a little wider (ii) shifting slightly to the north
(iii) increasing its height slightly (iv) shrinking by a few millimeters

Dear Sir,

I feel I ought to write

About Tom's essay- work last night.

Of all the subjects you have set

This seemed the most unwise yet.

"Describe your family" _____ Tom wrote it

So well, I just had to stop it

Being handed in, _____ so did my wife.

The details of our family life

Are not such a kind, alas

That I should want them read in class.

We did not wish the High School staff

To read for a lunch- hour laugh.

We tore it out. I realise

You may think what we did unwise--

But give it your consideration

And please accept my explanation.

I trust you will not blame my son.

For, after all, the work was done.

- (a) The father did not want the essay submitted because _____
- (i) it had many mistakes
 - (ii) the handwriting wasn't good
 - (iii) the subject of the essay was most unwise
 - (iv) All of the above

Before they can even read, almost one in every four children in nursery schools is learning a skill that even some adults have yet to master : using the Internet.

Some 23% of children in the nursery level have gone online according to the education department. By kindergarten, 32% have used the internet, under adult supervision. The numbers underscore a trend in which the largest group of new users of the internet are kids from 2 to 5. At school and at home children are viewing web sites for interactive stories and animated lessons that teach letters, numbers and rhymes. Young students don't differentiate between the face-to face world and the internet world. They were born into the age of internet, they see it as a part of the continuity of the way life is today.

At the pre-school age, children need some grown-up help to get online. One of their favourite computer activities is writing an e-mail to a grandparent. It's great for letter recognition say experts. Little kids don't like to wait. They love the idea that they can write to grandma and get an e-mail back half an hour later.

- (a) The most favourite activity of kids as given in the passage is _____.
- (b) Writing an e-mail is so loved by children because _____.
- (c) Kids start using the internet at this early age because _____.
- (d) One word for the phrase, "don't like to wait" is _____.
- (e) Two skills the children like to follow are (a) _____ (b) _____.

4. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

Fishing is a very peaceful and solitary hobby. You usually don't share it with anyone. You can just sit quietly and patiently for the fish to bite. It is a convenient hobby to take up, because you can do it where there is a river, lake or by the sea. Once I got a chance to fish for a trout in a lake. It was raining. I got my equipment and began to fish in the pouring rain. I had brought some bait and stale bread but I was using a spinning hook, which when pulled along, seems like a small fish. The lake was a mass of ripples as the rain fell and hit the water. The fish were probably in the muddy bottom of the lake. I was waiting for them to come out, but they had sensibly gone when the rain got harder. I was soaked to the skin with nothing to show for my day's work.

Fishing in the sea is different. It is no good taking lots of bread to encourage the fish to the top. A long line with a baited hook is sufficient, and perhaps one needs more patience than before, because the fish could be anywhere. It is important to keep quiet when fishing because the fish can hear you under water. So an outboard motor is useless when trying to maneuver near the spot where you think the fishes are. Sea gulls dive down to grab the occasional fish. I always consume what I catch because fishing is my hobby, not a profession.

- (a) Fishing in the sea is regarded easy because _____.
- (b) The author did not succeed in catching a trout in the lake as _____.
- (c) The meaning of "soaked to the skin" is _____.
- (d) Give two features of fishing as a hobby.
- (e) Why did the author not sell the fish he caught ?
